SOMETIMES IT'S EASIER. . . .

When things are apparently obvious, but more obscure as you inquire into them, it's easier sometimes to understand a quatraine by mystic poet William Blake:

To see a World in a Grain of Sand
And a Heaven in a Wild Flower
Hold Infinity in the palm of your hand and Eternity in an hour.
--Auguries of Innocence

A dark-eyed actor named Sal Mineo died of stab wounds one day last week, much as he had portrayed the rebellious outcast youth in a number of movies in the 1950 and 1960s.

Those over-30's will remember Mineo in "Rebel Without a Cause," which sent James Dean into some kind of screen immortality, a movie autobiography of which is currently on film.

Mineo was not only believable, but a fine actor. He was nominated for Academy Awards for "Rebel.." and "Exodus," in which he played an Israel freedom fighter.

He took several knife wounds in the chest, the attacker running off, believed to be drug connection or perhaps just a robber in what is known as "kinky" apartment section of Sunset Strip.

Fatally, the little boy grew up.

A Texan went to Israel and saw one of the small farms. He said to the farmer, "Is this your whole farm? Why, back in Texas, I get in my car at 5 in the morning, and I drive and drive, and at dusk I just reach the other side of my ranch."

The Israeli through awhile and replied: "I used to have a car like that."

Tickets Due City Speeders

Cameron police will stop issuing verbal warnings for speeding and other traffic violations and start issuing tickets upon orders by the city council, which heard a petition about speeding at its regular meeting Tuesday evening.

The petition was presented by Jim Camp, and was signed by residents on 6th 7th, and 8th Sts. between Fannin and Jackson, where the petition said the situation is especially dangerous.

Council noted that speeding is a problem all over the city and ordered Police Chief Kent Butler to issue tickets for speeding, or other traffic violations. He was instructed to use his radar to patrol streets and ticket speeders.

It will be left up to the city court as to whether the tickets will be probated or will draw a fine. City Atty. Ed Magre said in cases of excessive speeding, or if the violator disputes with the officer, probation will not be recommended.

Magre said the probated period is for six months, and if the offender repeats the offense he pays fines for both violations.

In other business, council discussed work on 8th St. and authorized Sts. Supt. Walter Wallace to put an oil coat on 8th between Milam and Travis. Harold Roberts, who lives on 8th, appeared before the council asking relief from dust on that street.

It was noted that when a storm sewer system was installed, the surface of the street was torn up, justifying repairs now.

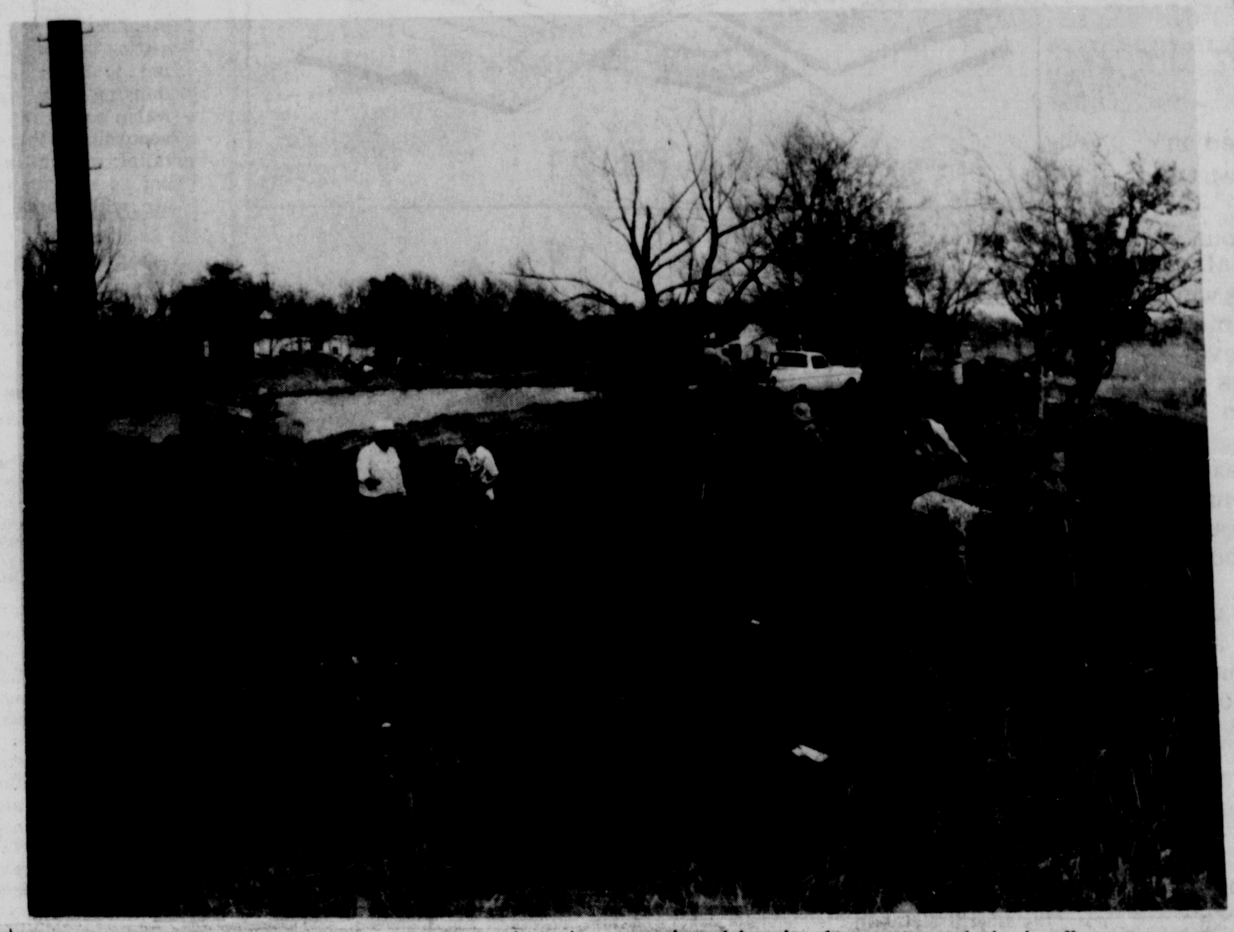
Wallace was also instructed to stop patching streets that are too far gone and to blade and gravel them instead.

City Code Inspector Ed Bigbee asked for action in opening two blocks of Lee St. between 4th and 6th. This will be turned over to the Planning Commission for a recommendation.

Fire Chief Felix Matula reported that he has seven new firemen and asked if $150 given to the department by Santa Fe could be used for additional alert systems. He will get an estimate of the cost for the next meeting.

The Planning Commission will also be making a recommendation on a requested truck route through the city. Magre said an ordinance would be required if the route is indicated on city streets.

Council also discussed the possibility of closing some small streets and narrow alleys in the residential districts.



BICENTENNIAL PROJECT at Buckholts is a city park, the first for the newly incorporated town. Here volunteer workers Saturday met to clear trash and brush, plant trees and shrubs, flowers and grass. The park may be one of the focal points for the city's July 4 Bicentennial Homecoming.

Candidates File For School Board Elections

Schools in Milam County and surrounding areas have set school trustee elections for April 3 and a number of candidates have filed, some for re-election and some for the first time.

In Cameron, terms of Forrest Sapp and Carol Barr are expiring. Both have filed for re-election and Mrs. Frances Price, J. C. Komar, and Leroy Doskocil have filed for the first time. Candidates should file at the CISD superintendent's office.

The Buckholts, Gause, and Milam County trustee elections have been set for April 3 by the county judge, at whose office candidates should file.

In the Buckholts election, terms of Edwin Lehmann, Glenda Ruzicka, and Elbert Svetlik are expiring. Fillings so far include Lehmann, Ruzicka, Jeanette Glaser, and Ray Harris.

No filings have been reported for the Gause school election, and terms of Cleo Swain and B. R. Garrison are expiring.

In the county trustee election, incumbents Willie Glaser for Pct. 1, J. D. Moore for Pct. 2., and George Fisher for trustee-at-large, have all filed for re-election.

Two filings have been reported for the Rogers trustee election, those of Darrell Henson, incumbent trustee, and Darrell Cobb. Sherman Mayfield's term also expires in April.

James Terry and Marvin Rodenbeck are the Thorndale trustees whose terms are expiring and no filings so far have been reported.

All three incumbents for the Rosebud school board have filed for re-election. They include Gary Connors, Nelson Malcik, and E. K. Chandler.

At Rockdale, Dr. P. M. Young has filed for re-election and James Greene has filed for election to the post he was assigned to last month to replace Bryce Crow, who resigned from the board two months ago.

Both Milano school board incumbents, E. C. Westbrook Jr. and Arnold Kornegay, have filed for re-election.

Blake Won't Run For Third Term

Mayor Gene Blake announced to the city council Tuesday night that he will not be a candidate for re-election to the post he has filled for four years.

Blake expressed appreciation to the citizens of Cameron for the honor of being mayor for four years and said due to circumstances he will not seek re-election.

This leaves the race open, with one candidate, Lawrence Zotz, filing for mayor. Filing deadline for the city election is March 5.

Gate Rate Up, Gas Rates To Show Increase

Natural gas rates will be slightly increased in Cameron effective February 20 following an increase in the city gate rate. Grady Allen, Lone Star Gas manager, said the increase will not be large and will not show up much on a gas bill as the February weather has been mild.

Lone Star Gas filed its regular monthly report with the Texas Railroad Commission showing that the company's weighted average cost of gas for January has risen to $1.10 ($1.1010) per thousand cubic feet of gas (Mcf) from 89.51 cents per Mcf in December, 1975.

As a result, the new city gate rate will be $1.36 ($1.3613) per Mcf effective February 20.

January has been the coldest period of the season, and Lone Star has had to take larger volumes of more expensive gas from its suppliers to meet customers' needs. Thus the company paid almost $50 million for gas in January compared to $36 million in December -- a $14 million increase.

One Night Stand Set For Circus

The Al G. Clark and Dailey Brothers Circus will be in Rogers for a one-night stand on Tuesday, Feb. 24 with elephants, llamas, horses, and all. There will be plenty of funny clowns, wire walkers, tumblers, jugglers, and all kinds of circus artists.

The circus is being sponsored in Rogers by the Rogers Community Service Club with Clayton Clowers president and Ronny Wimberly as circus committee chairman.

The circus will set up on the old Rogers High School football field, or what is now the baseball field-playground, near the school gym, and the performance will begin at 7 p.m., according to Wimberly.

Tickets bought in advance will help the Rogers Community Service Club and will save the buyer money. Tickets in advance will cost $1.50 and at the gate $2. Tickets may be bought in advance at the Rogers First State Bank and at Rogers Hardware.

Buckholts Busy With Bicentennial Plans

Many plans have already been made but many more will be made before July 4 and the Buckholts Bicentennial Homecoming.

Buckholts residents are being asked to write to relatives and friends who have lived in Buckholts and invite them for a full day, beginning with a community church service and continuing with other activities including folk dancers, choirs, speakers, street dances with two different bands.

Committees that will coordinate these activities are: worship, Pastor Charles Treptow, chairman; food, Mrs. Wilburn Beckhusen, chairman; concessions, Tim Johnson; art, Mrs. A. W. Zajicek Jr., chairman; decoration, Tim Johnson, chairman; publicity, Mrs. Zajicek Jr., chairman.

Anyone who wishes to sell homemade crafts and items should get in touch with Mrs. Robert W. Hopkins who will be in charge of the Country Store. Those who would like to have a booth should contact Tim Johnson.

Ten percent of the profit made on each booth will go to the Bicentennial fund which will pay for bands, lights, decorations, etc.

In order to qualify for a Bicentennial Community, contributions should be made in each of these three areas: Heritage, Festival, and Horizons.

Under the Horizons area is the work going on in the Buckholts City Park and the continuing beautification of Buckholts. Each property owner would be making a great contribution towards this in cleaning up town property.

The citizens of Buckholts want to be proud of their city in many ways, and clean, well-kept city is one of these ways.

Each subcommittee is asked to have a report for the next meeting date, March 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the Brethren educational building at Buckholts.

Hearings Set In Austin On Liability Insurance

The Texas House of Representatives Interim Subcommittee on Mandatory Automobile Liability Insurance will hold public hearings in Austin on Friday and Saturday, February 27 and 28.

The purpose of the Subcommittee is to determine whether Texans are in favor of requiring all motorists to have liability insurance before being allowed to drive.

According to Subcommittee Chairman R. E. "Gene" Green, Texas has a severe problem with uninsured drivers. State Board of Insurance statistics show that about 25% of all automobiles registered in Texas are being driven without liability insurance.

Also, the Department of Public Safety has recently compiled statistics indicating that 65% of all traffic accidents in Texas or 433 major wrecks per day, involved at least one uninsured driver.

People who are struck by uninsured motorists often have to pay for doctor bills and car repairs at their own expense even when the uninsured driver is totally at fault.

Representative Green in inviting all people who feel strongly pro or con about requiring all drivers to carry liability insurance to testify before the Subcommittee. The hearings will be in the Old Supreme Court Room, Room 310 of the Capitol, at 2 p.m. Friday, February 27 and 10 a.m. Saturday, February 28.

GED Tests Scheduled For Two Saturdays

GED tests for the Night Adult Education classes will be offered Saturday, Feb. 21 and Saturday, Feb. 28 beginning at 8:30 a.m. each Saturday according to Max McClaren, county school superintendent.

Testing procedures will be held at the Yoe High School in Room 6 in Cameron, and will be administered by Jack Ruzicka, director of the Milam County ABE County Co-op. There will be a fee of $10 per test.

Junior Class Sets Play, Supper

The Junior class of Yoe High School will present "Here Comes Charlie," Thursday and Friday night at Ben Milam school cafeteria. The class will also sponsor a chili supper on Thursday beginning at 5:30 p.m. in the Ada Henderson cafeteria.

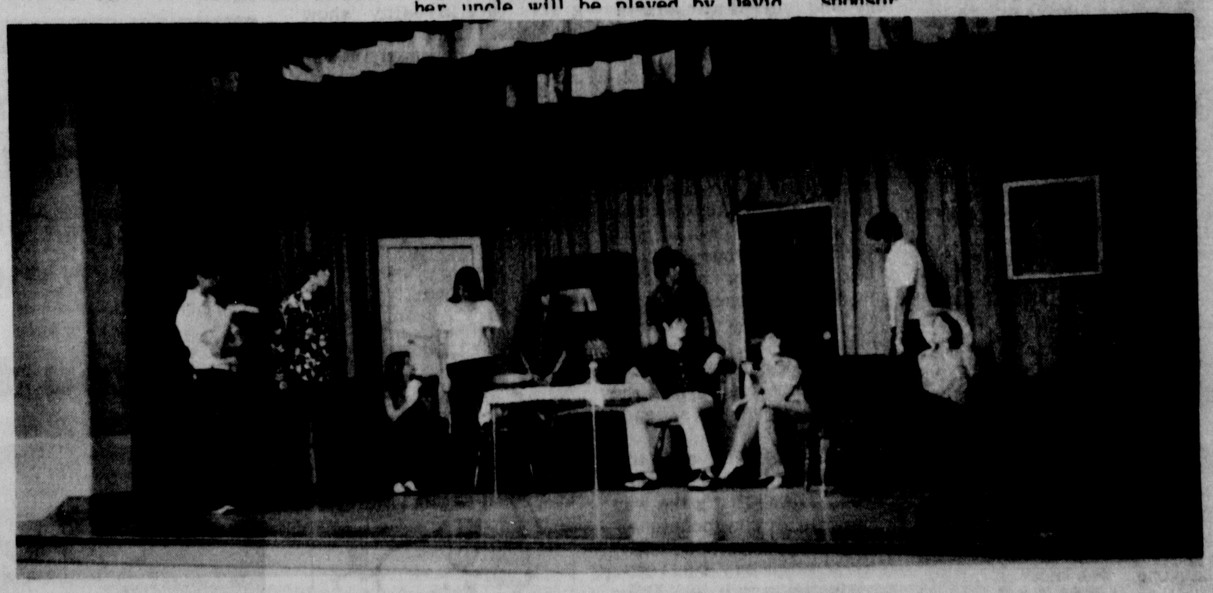
The play will begin at 7:30 both nights. Pre-sale tickets can be purchased at $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for students from any junior class member or at the high school principal's office. Tickets at the door will be $1.50 for adults and $1 for students. Supper tickets will be priced at $1.25 for adults and $1 for children under 12.

The production, "Here Comes Charlie," is three-act comedy that will last for two and a half hours.

Heading the cast is Brian Wilkinson as Larry Elliot, a young businessman. Karla Stanislaw is Mrs. Fanny Farnham, Larry's aunt by marriage. Ann Richardson will play Larry's fiancee, Vivian Smythe-Kersey. Eloise Henderson will be Charlie Hopps who is Larry's ward and her uncle will be played by David Delony. The part of Vivian's mother will be played by Mary Margaret Chandler and Mike Barr will be Vivian's brother.

The cast also includes Molly Story as the cook at the Elliot home and James Pair will be Nora's sweetheart. Clay Kruse will be Ted Hartley, an oldtime college pal of Larry's. Bob Terry is in charge of the stage production and is assisted by Carl Bradley.

The play is being directed by Mrs. Henriem McIntosh, a junior class sponsor.



REHEARSALS for the Junior class play, "Here Comes Charlie," have been underway as the students prepare for performances Thursday and Friday nights at Ben Milam cafeteria. A chili supper Thursday night will also benefit class projects.

The Wrong Answer...

If other Texas counties have never had an audit outside their courthouses, it should improve public awareness of county-level finance without hurting feelings if they follow the proposal before Milam County Commissioners.

Cities, school districts, water districts, almost any level of government long have required outside audits by reliable CPA firms.

Why the counties of Texas, particularly those outside metro areas, have seen no similar need is beyond us. It only suggests the antiquity of attitude many rural counties have maintained on modern governmental practices.

And it must cause county residents and officials alike to wonder: Maybe that's why we have so much government at state and national level. Maybe that's why things got beyond local control in the past 25 years.

If the cost seems exorbitant, perhaps a biennial audit would satisfy accounting procedures and public confidence.

"Never" is a long time and the wrong answer anywhere modern government keeps its only set of books.

Some More Moccasins...

Well, your Herald's rain-dance splattered streets and lawns and fields Tuesday, but it didn't put any real moisture in the soil or raise Cen-Tex lake levels.

Perhaps a few hundreths fell. The ag community may have to take on its rain-making procedures if Herald people can't raise more than dust in slow-rain times like these.

We may use wrong presentation. A few weeks ago in California, ministers, priests, and the heirarchy of organized churches took the issue to the pulpit. And the next day the Bay Area of San Francisco had the heaviest snow in 80 years.

It wasn't rain, but neither was what fell in the Milam area Tuesday.

We're going to buy some more moccasins.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

IRKED AT 'SLANTED' TV NEWS

Rep. William L. Armstrong (Colo.)". . .While some of the attacks on TV networks are undoubtedly excessive, in my opinion many of the concerns which have been expressed are valid and deserve serious consideration. I therefore, commend the following article, published by Conservative Digest, to the attention of my colleagues." (Excerpts follow):

How The TV Networks Manipulate You
By Bruce Herschensohn

Crediting and discrediting: The National Citizen's Committee for Fairness to the Presidency was referred to both by NBC and CBS as a "group that calls itself The National Citizen's Committee for Fairness to the Presidency." "A group that calls itself" sounds as though it might not really be what its name implies. . .The Symbionese Liberation Army, though it was hardly liberating anyone, was not an army, and had a membership of seven people. . .The group was distingusihed by the networks as the SLA. The group declined to three (CBS, April 18, 1975.)

When the President visited Huntsville, Alabama on Feb. 18, 1974, Tom Brokaw of NCB News commented that thousands of federal workers in Huntsville were given the day off, but NBC failed to say it was a national observence of George Washington's birth day and federal workers throughout the United States were given the day off as they had always been in observing of that holiday.

Shorlty after the announcement of President Ford's amnesty plan Dan Schorr of CBS interviewed a draft evader with a display of courtesy one would think would have reserved for Pope Paul VI. Although Schorr had asked questions of those in the administration as though he were volleying cannon balls his questions to the draft evader were delivered with the tap and impact of a beach ball.

Walter Cronkite ends the CBS Evening News with the phrase, "And that's the way it is," After the techniques of the trade have been used, some probably believe, "that's the way it is," Only some times. More often it is the way the network has made the day's events appear. Too often that's the way it isn't.

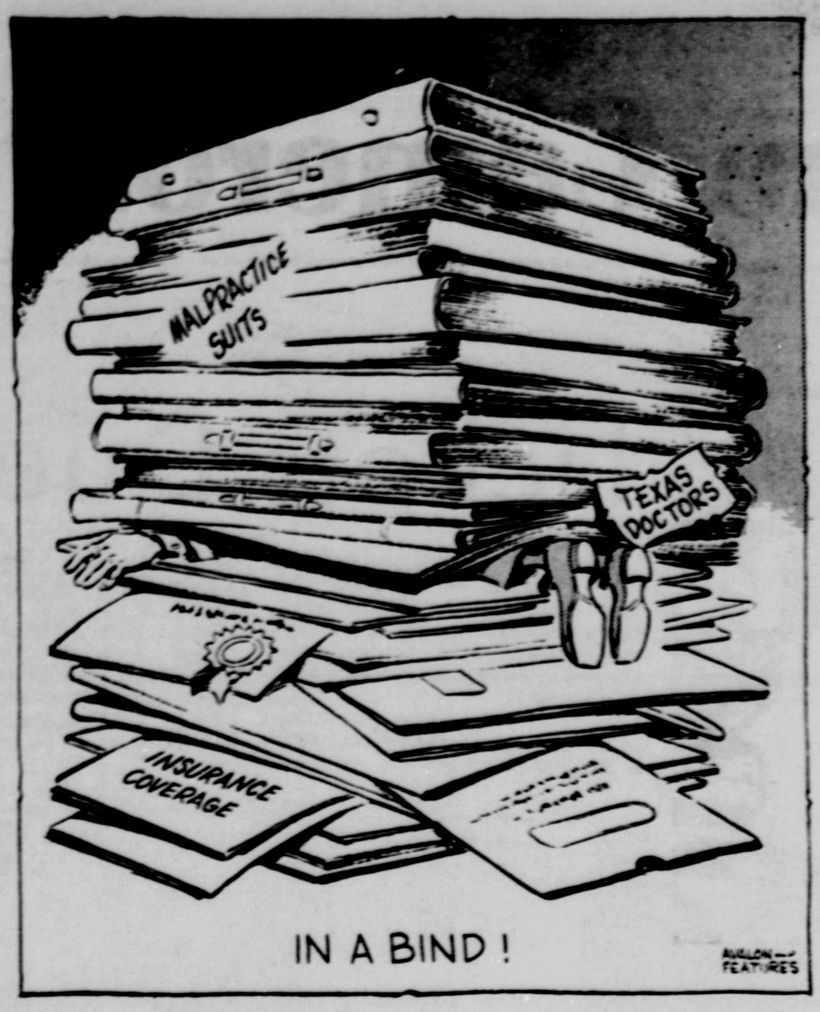
CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

If a newspaper reporter added his or her views to a news report, he or she would be looking for work. Most viewers of network television news programs are well aware that their "news programs" are in reality "show business." They then turn to their daily or weekly newspaper for the straight news report.

Out of Orbit



OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear Editor:

I don't guess there's anything funnier than a far-out environmentalist who has run out of something to warn against.

According to an article I read last night while I was sitting comfortably in front of my fireplace, an environmentalist has figured out that fireplaces take out more warm air up through the chimney than they leave in the room and are therfore an utter waste of energy.

I started to get an overcoat or wrap up in a blanket, but then I got to thinking. What a joke it's been on man! You'd think somebody would have caught on. Here for centuries past, before gas and electricity, men have been building fireplaces, standing in front of them, sitting in front of them, cooking in them, all the time thinking they were keeping warm but all they were doing, according to this environmentalist, was chilling the room, not to mention polluting the air with smoke, destroying the forests, and maybe ruining the upper ozone layer, which accounts for so much flu lately or even may be the number of people running for President.

Speaking of staying warm I notice in nearly every newspaper I read lately that utility bills are going up and people are complaining from one end of the country to the other.

I have no solution for this, but I thought I'd tell you how a bank in England in 1880 kept its heating costs under satisfactory control, according to what I read in a book a friend gave me.

The bank informed its employees that due to the rising cost of coal and the necessity to economize it would continue to maintain its stove in good working order but whenever the weather was coal enough for a fire each employee must bring four pounds of coal to work with him each morning.

I don't believe this would work these days in a twenty story office building. There aren't enough coal yards in most cities.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Bentsen Decision Shakes Up Lineup

U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen shook up the Texas presidential preference primary lineup a bit by withdrawing from the long list of major Democratic candidates for nomination.

He remains on the May 1 ballot in Texas, however, along with the five other Democratic candidates, and a major state party battle is brewing.

Former Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, the man Bentsen defeated in 1970, announced his support of uncommitted delegate slates in 18 senatorial districts.

Yarborough, in effect, gave the liberal slates in those districts a front man or a name to rally behind. The former senator said he is convinced most Texas Democrats are genuinely uncommitted, as early voting in party caucuses had indicted is the case in other states.

Other elements of the state party will be rallying behind delegates pledged to George Wallace, Fred Harris and Jimmy Carter. Another candidate, Ellen McCormack, will appear on the ballot in five districts.

Meanwhile, Bentsen is facing tougher opposition than many first figured from W. Philip Gramm, a young professor of economics (on leave) from Texas A&M University.

Highway Crisis

Transportation is facing a "real and serious" crisis, according to State Department of Highways and Transportation heads.

Highway building is caught in a squeeze between declining revenues and increased costs.

DHPT has a current backlog of construction and right of way projects totalling nearly $11 billion. DHPT will have about $1.9 billion in state and federal funds for construction over the next 20 years.

By 1980, according to DHPT Engineer-Director B.L. DeBerry, there will not be sufficient state dollars to match available federal dollars.

"Putting it another way," said DeBerry, "the program will be only one eighth as large as was possible at past funding levels."

A highway bidding February 25 will cover work in Houston, Plainview, Alice, Lampasas, Texas City, Lubbock, Waco, San Angelo, Vidor and Austin.

Drouth Threatens

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has warned vanishing subsoil moisture and dry winter winds are creating drouth conditions for half of Texas farmers and ranchers.

Much of the western portion of the state has not had rain since late summer, White said. Winter rains have not occurred.

White said the grain crop will be severely reduced without rain within the next few weeks.

Courts Speak

The State Supreme Court agreed to hear a dispute over accessibility of workmen's compensation records. Industrial Foundation of the South is suing for authority to take complete information of compensation claims from the Industrial Accident Board computer system.

The high court also agreed to hear arguments March 10 in a tax dispute over imported merchandise warehousing between Farmers Branch and Japenese manufacturers.

In another decision, the Supreme Court said a Dallas man has a right to sue a University of Texas health facilities for $60,000 because a negligent lab technician lost the man's eyeball (which had been removed for tests).

Texas Court of Criminal Appeals refused to reconsider its earlier order directing a new trial for Dallas man sentenced to death for murder.

The same court affirmed a five-year prison sentence for a Brownsville man accused of sexually abusing a nine-year-old girl.

Districts Drawn

A three-judge federal court settled a long controversy by drawing new single-member state House of Representatives districts for Jefferson and Nueces counties.

The court had a lot more trouble deciding how to divide Tarrant County into single-member legislative districts, however, and postoned its decision until February 17 on two plans before it for consideration.

Filing deadline for candidates has been extended until March 8.

Program Backlog

Veterans Land Board will go to the bond market the first week in April if conditions are favorable.

But this doesn't mean immediate reopening of the Veterans Land Program, Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong cautioned.

Armstrong said his staff will have to work through a backlog of 3,721 applications before any new applications can be accepted. New applications probably will not be taken before mid-summer. Applications were temporarily suspended December 31 because bond money for loans had been committed due to an unexpected flood of 1,700 applications in one month alone.

Short Snorts

Railway companies have been given permission to close stations in Stanton, San Saba and Victoria and to dismantle depots.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe is reportedly four months behind schedule in filling more than 80 vacant appointments.

Texas Water Rights Commission has completed a report on diversions of public water in the Lower Guadalupe River Segment.

Texas business activity index jumped 11 per cent in December.

The December jobless rate of 5.8 per cent was two per cent below the national rate and down two-tenths of one per cent from the previous month.

STATE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WELFARE

We're diversifying our "mix" of generating plant fuels...

to keep your electric service dependable.

For more than 30 years, natural gas was the only fuel used in Texas Power & Light Company generating plants. It was economical in cost and there was an abundant supply available.

However, in recent years, the cost of gas has risen enormously and the supply is becoming increasingly uncertain.

During periods of cold weather in the last several years, and again this year, supplies of gas were curtailed drastically. TP&L used large quantities of oil to keep its plants operating.

Since 1971, TP&L has been steadily reducing its dependency on gas and oil with plants which use lignite coal as fuel. Lignite is a more economical fuel and it's readily available from huge deposits right here in Texas. Electricity is now being produced by two lignite-fueled plants in the TP&L area, one other is under construction and others are being planned.

TP&L and two other North Texas electric companies have a nuclear-fueled plant under construction. The first of two generating units is scheduled to be placed in operation in 1980 and the second in 1982.

It's essential that TP&L continue planning and building new generating plants to make possible use of lower cost and more readily available fuels and, at the same time, keep your electric service dependable.

Governor Cites Volunteer Work

Governor Dolph Briscoe announced today that the final report on Texas Immunization Action Month shows that several thousand Texas children were immunized from preventable diseases as a direct result of volunteers and health officials working together.

The October 1975 statewide Immunization Action Month campaign was co-sponsored by the First Lady's Volunteer Program, Office of the Governor, and the Texas Department of Health Resources.

In announcing the results, Gov. Briscoe said, "Many concerned Texans volunteered countless hours to make parents aware of the need to protect their children from crippling diseases. We could have never reached the hundreds of families that are now protected had it not been for dedicated public health employees and private physicians, as well as interested volunteers.

"I am gratified to see that in the 0-1 year age group the immunization level jumped by 30 percent and in the 1 to 4 year group an increase of 23 percent was recorded by public health officials over last year's statistics. Members of the Texas Medical Association and the Texas Osteopathic Medical Association also reported an average 28 percent increase in the immunization level of their patients. These figures represent the children who are so often disease-damaged because of a lack of vaccinations," Governor Briscoe added.

"We in Texas must continue to educate our citizens on the importance of updated immunization records, so that not even one child is struck by a disease that is preventable." Gov. Briscoe concluded.

The Texas Immunization Action Month steering committee which planned the month-long health emphasis project was chaired by Mrs. Dolph Broscoe. The committee was composed of representative of B'nai B'rith Women, the Texas Academy of Family Physicians, Texas Classroom Teacher Association, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, Texas Jaycees, Texas March of Dimes, Texas Medical Association, Texas Nurses' Association, Texas Osteopathic Medical Association, Texas Pharmaceutical Association, Texas Pediatric Society, and the Women's Auxiliary to the Texas Medical Association.

The Texas Department of Public Welfare and the Texas Agriculture Extension Service were also active in the project.

Miss Riola Finalist In Competition

Rebecca Riola, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Riola of Cameron, has been selected as one of the top six finalists in the state competition for the Texas Home Demonstration Association Scholarships.

Rebecca and her family will be visited on March 1 by a three member judging committee to determine which scholarship she will receive. In the offering are three $500 scholarships, one $300 scholarships, one $200 scholarship, and one $100 scholarship.

Rebecca is a nine year member of the Cameron 4-H club and has carried a variety of projects in foods and nutrition, clothing, entomology, breads, horticulture, home management, home improvement, swine, child care, and poultry, along with leadership, citizenship, gun safety and recreation.

She has held various offices in her local club and on the county level. She was recently elected girl five chairman of the District 10 4-H council and is a member of the State 4-H council.

She was a member of the state winning entomology team in 1974, was Milam County Gold Star Girl and Outstanding 4-H Girl in 1973, won the district Foods Show Bread and Dessert Division in 1974 and attended Texas 4-H Congress and was an apprentice leader at District 4-H Leadership Lab in 1975.

Dividend Checks Go To Veterans

Checks totaling $233 million in GI insurance dividends will be mailed to approximately three million veterans by the latter part of February, Jack Coker, director of the Waco Veterans Administration Regional Office, announced today.

Coker said the Veterans Administration accelerated dividend project is part of a record $376.8 million dividend payout to veterans who have kept in force their policies from World War I, World War II, and the Korean Conflict.

He said about $143 million of the dividend is being credited under other options selected by the policyholders.

Those veterans who have elected to have their GI insurance dividends used to buy additional insurance will have the additional amount credited on the anniversary date of the policy.

In Texas, 5,836 veterans of World War I will participate in the 1976 dividend program, Coker said. Total dividends to them will amount to $1,113,000 an average payment of $191.

Fraudulent Promotions Concern AG

AUSTIN

Attorney General John L. Hill and State Securities Commissioner Roy Mouer Friday issued a joint press statement, expressing grave concern about fraudulent oil and gas well promotions which are flooding the country from Texas.

During the period from January 1973 to October 1975 the two Texas enforcement officials estimated, so-called "Schedule D" companies took in approximately $100 million from 47,000 investors across the United States.

A computer printout of the names and addresses of the 47,000 investors, who have bought "Schedule D" interests at prices ranging from $450 to $5,000, has been prepared by Secretary of State Mark White's office, and is being mailed to law enforcement agencies in more than 40 states.

"A barrage of legal actions," Commissioner Mouer noted, "including injunctions and receiverships filed by Attorney General Hill, "has not stopped investors from being defrauded of their money."

"Texas has a huge, legitimate oil industry, and a worldwide reputation as a producer of oil and gas," Hill observed. "It is not surprising that illegitimate operators would come here to try to cash in on that reputation."

Engineers Week Is Proclaimed

Mayor Lloyd Joyce of Bryan and Mayor O. M. Holt of College Station have jointly proclaimed Feb. 22-28 as "Engineers Week."

The two city officials met members of the Brazos Chapter of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers on the steps of the Zachry Engineering Center Friday to sign the proclamation.

"The community recognizes and applauds the achievements made by professional engineers in improving the quality of life for every citizen," the proclamation reads. "We honor the Brazos Chapter for their past achievements and commend them for their community conscious 1976 pldge."

Tunisia

Tunisia, the tiny North African country, was settled by the Phoenicians and Carthaginians in ancient times. It was part of the Roman empire until the Arab conquest of 648. It was ruled by various Arab and Berber dynasties until the Turks took it in 1570. Tunisia was a pirate state for much of its history, raiding Mediterranean shipping.

Chocolate Factory

According to the Guinness Book of World Records, the world's largest chocolate factory is the one built by Hershey Foods Corporation of Hershey, Pennsylvania, in 1905. In 1972 sales were more than $416 million and the payroll reached 8,000 employees.

Easter Egg

The first Easter egg roll was held April 2, 1877, at the Capitol grounds in Washington, D.C., during the administration of President Rutherford Hayes. President Franklin Roosevelt discontinued the custom in 1942, but President Eisenhower reinstated egg-rolling in 1953.

County Agent's Notes

Are Nematodes Your Problem?

By Bill McCutchen

Nematodes have put many people out of the home gardening business and they are severly limiting production for others.

If nematodes are your problem there is now an effective material, not excessively expensive or overly difficult to apply, that will let you garden without nematodes killing your plants.

The first demonstration conducted with this material was conducted with the cooperation of E. J. Provasek of Cameron in 1974 with excellent results and E. J. has used it each year since. Several others tried it in 1975 and now this material Vapam is widely distributed and available at most garden centers.

In E. J.'s garden, Vapam was applied with ahose-on sprayer at the rate of 1 1/2 quarts of Vapam per 100 sq. ft. Enough water was put through the applicator to distribute the material evenly over the area. Following the Vapam application a waterseal was made by sprinkling the area to the point of runoff, thus holding the volatile material in the ground. The waterseal was maintained for three days.

After two to three weeks the soil should be tilled and aereated and will be ready to plant in another day or so.

When applying Vapam, the soil should be well tilled and the weather should be warm. This won't rid your garden of nematodes forever, but it is effective for at least one year if applied correctly.

Greenbug Resistant Grain Promises Some Relief

In 1968, greenbugs became a serious pest of grain sorghum in Texas infesting approximately 4.5 million acres of sorghum in 70 Texas counties. In the years following 1968, heavy reliance on insecticides for greenbug control has caused resistance to some insecticides.

In 1974 and 1975 some areas of the state reported greenbug infestations that were virtually uncontrollable with the insecticides currently labeled for use in sorghum. Greenbug resistant grain sorghums promise to provide an effective method for reducing the importance of greenbugs in sorghum.

Resistance--What Is It?

The understanding of terminology commonly associated with host plant resistance is important. Some definitions and explanations of terms are necessry.

Resistance to insecticide is the development of an ability in a strain of insects to tolerate doses of toxicant which would prove letahl to the majority of individuals in a normal population (i.e. the same rates of insecticide do not produce a kill of insects). Likewise, a plant resistant to insects, possesses heritable qualities which enable it to produce a greater yield of better quality than other plants of the same species when exposed to the same pest population.

There are three types or mechanisms of resistance:

Non-preference - is a type of resistance which denotes the presence or absence of plant characters which cause the pest to utilize it less than a susceptible plant for egg laying, food, shelter or a combination of the three. In other words, the insects do not find the plant attractive for egg laying, food or shelter.

2. Tolerance is a type of resistance in which a plant is able to withstand or recover from damage in spite of the insects present.

3. Antibiosis is a type of resistance which denotes some adverse effect of the plant on the pest (i.e. reduced reproduction, decreased insect size, or abnormal length of life or increased mortality).

It is important to note that the term resistance does not imply that greenbug resistant grain sorghums will be "free" of greenbugs. A more accurate way to look at resistance is to realize that greenbugs may be found on the "resistant grain sorghum hybrids," but yields can be expected to be better than from susceptible hybrids.

Research data collected in the field and laboratory appear to indicate that the sorghum lines used to "build" greenbug resistant hybrids contain moderate levels of non - preference as well as some degree of anti-biosis. The anti-biosis is expressed as an increase in the duration of the developmental stages and decrease in the number of offspring per adult.

A Turning Point

The first billion-bushel wheat crop was produced in the United States in 1915.

GOOD BLOSSOMS MAKE A GOOD HONEY HARVEST--Beekeepers travel to various parts of the state during the year as different crops bloom. During January and February, they are in the Valley for dandelion and citrus blossoms. Texas ranked third in the U.S. in honey production in 1975. Commercial beekeepers produced 12,896,000 pounds of honey, a 25 percent increase from 1974, according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

Texas Ranks Third In Honey Production

AUSTIN–Texas ranked third in the nation in honey production and in the number of bee colonies during 1975, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has announced.

The 100 commercial beekeepers in Texas added more than $6 million to the state's economy during 1975, White said.

Honey production increased from only 10,290,000 pounds in 1974 to 12,896,000 pounds in 1975.

The number of bee colonies declined by one percent to 208,000, but average yield per colony during 1975 jumped to 62 pounds, up from last year's yield of only 49 pounds, Commissioner White noted.

Price per pound of all honey averaged 45.9 cents, .2 cents above the 1974 price, while average retail price per pound was 74 cents.

Approximately 232,000 pounds of beeswax were produced, valued at $232,000. In 1974, only 165,000 pounds of beeswax were produced at a value of $182,000.

Powdery Mildew Research Turns Up New Strain

It's tough, it's stubborn, and it's prevalent thoughout the east and central Texas and some southern portions of the state.It's a problem called powdery mildew.

Powdery mildew is a source of concern from the area near Dallas to the southern portion of Texas. The fungus disease which attacks sorghums and forages may cause a loss of 10 to 20 percent annually in yields.

When mildew hits a crop, it kills leaf tissue and reduces its photosynthetic capacity. High humidity, low light intesntity areas provide ideal growing conditions for the disease.

Now, from the rye-and-wheat combination line, Triticale, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station researchers Neal A. Tuleen and Earl C. Gilmore of College Station have developed a new wheat strain immune to races of mildew present during the 1974 season. This strain is being tested for mildew resistence at several Texas Agricultural Experiment Stations units atCollege Station, Renner, and Chillicothe.

"In this new strain," said Dr. Tuleen, "a piece of the rye chromosome carrying a gene for mildew resistance was transferred to a wheat chromosome, and a line has now been established with 21 pairs of chromosomes that of normal commerical wheat."

Results of the scientists' research will be sent to the U. S. Department of Agriculture's International Mildew Nursery in Beltsville, Maryland, where a coordinating committee will distribute samples of new wheat strains to wheat breeders throughout the world for evaluation and possible use in their wheat breeding programs.

Cow Cost Not Only Problem

The cost of keeping a cow went up about 100 percent from 1972 to 1974, said Dr. Ed Uvacek, a livestock marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Uvacek pointed out that lower cattle prices were not the main cause of producers' problems.

"Price really wasn't down that much. The thing that hurt cattlemen the most was that the cattle buildup phase coincided with one of the fastest inflationary periods in history."

The specialist explained that cattle production goes in cycles lasting about 10 years. The first seven to eight years of the cycle are spent building up herd size. The next two years, called the liquidation phase, are spent decreasing herd size.

The current cattle cycle, noted Uvacek, began in 1967 and reached its peak in 1975. This year will be the year for liquidation. In 1977, another cycle will begin.

The best profit years in a cattle cycle are two to three years after the start of the buildup phase, said the Texas A&M University System specialist. That means 1979 and 1981 will be good years for cattle producers.

Uvacek said calf and cow slaughter has increased sustantially in the U.S. and should stay high throughout 1976. He pointed out that Texas led the nation in decreasing breeding herd size.

Increased feedlot placements through 1976 and fewer imports of red meat should also help the cattle industry, he said.

Feedlot Ownership Contrasted

Close to 85 percent of the cattle in Texas feedlots are locally owned. This is in contrast to just a few years ago.

During the period of rapid growth in the late Sixties, when Texas was being boosted to the top ranking feeder state, much of the cattle feeding was in the hands of investors from outside local areas. Not only were they seeking profits in cattle feeding, but some were also looking for tax shelters.

Now, according to a survey of banks active in cattle feeding loans, not only is most of the cattle locally owned, but most of the financing is through local banks.

Banks in cattle feeding areas furnish about half the credit needed to carry on feeding operations and arrange for another tenth through correspondent banks.

These have been the proportions handled by banks for some time, much of the rest of the financing coming from local production credit associations.

Ag Forum Set At Fort Worth

Allan Grant, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, and farmer and livestock producer from Visalia, Calif., will be the featured luncheon speaker at "The New World of Agriculture -- Century 3" Forum in Fort Worth, March 5.

Sponsored jointly by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Forum will begin at 10 a.m. and end following lunch and Grant's address.

The Forum will be held during the Southwest Farm Show and will feature a program of nationally known speakers on the future of farm equipment and machinery, present energy sources and alternate sources, a look at world markets for American agricultural products, and a discussion of U. S. agriculture policies and who sets American farm policies.

A Century Of Ag Research

This year marks the first century of research by state-supported agricultural experiment stations. The nation's first station was established in Connecticut in 1875.

GSPA Raps Government Intervention

LUBBOCK

Governmental intervention into the free market system resulted in loss of more than $430 million in the 1975 grain sorghum crop alone, according to testimony presented last week before the Senate Finance Committee.

The hearings presided over by Finance Committee chairman Sen. Russell Long, are investigating the Soviet Trade Agreement and possible violations of the 1974 Trade Reform Act.

A. W. (Dub) Anthony Jr. of Friona, Texas, president of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association, told the committee that "government embargoes and restrictions have hurt our market prices by at least $1 cwt. or $0.56 per bushel. . .this is not only a loss to our farmers but to the entire United States economy."

Anthony charged that the embargo on sales to Russia, Poland, and other Eastern European countries last summer and fall "Collapsed the grain markets which forced many grain farmers into bankruptcy."

"Due to government interference in the free flow of grain, the market prices have been like a roller coaster over the last three years," Anthony continued. Illustrating his point, he said that in 1973 grain sorghum prices crashed from $4.75 cwt. to $4 cwt. within four months. After two months, the prices were back to $4.75. By the following June, prices had dropped to $3.60 cwt.

In 1974, Anthony pointed out, prices rose to $5.90, crashed to $4, then rose again to $4.75. last August at the time of the grain embargo to Russia and Eastern Europe. Since then,prices have been weak. In early February sorghum sold for $3.70 to $3.80 cwt, which was at least 50 cents below the cost.

John C. White, Commissioner

Up a Trifle But Still Way Down... We're Outnumbered... Weatherwise.

Texas farm commodity prices which have been on a steady downhill ride have shown a slight turn around or leveling off in comparing January to December.

But lest anyone get the idea that farm income is increasing, only three commodities produced in the state are above parity.

All grain prices have shown at best only modest increases in prices during the past month. And compared to a year ago, prices are considerably lower. Compared to parity, farm prices have a long way to go to get even close to that ratio.

For the record, wheat, corn, oats, barley, and grain sorghum did show gains of a few cents during January compared to a month ago. But only oats is above parity.

Cotton prices did show an increase of almost two cents per pound in January, compared to December, to average 45.5 cents per pound. But parity for cotton is 77.71 cents per pound.

You can honestly say that livestock prices (except for sheep) are above month-ago levels. But that's not the entire story. All categories of livestock are still considerably below parity. Calves, for example, averaged $28.30 during January while parity is $66.60. Hogs are averaging $46 compared to a parity ratio of $51.60.

Egg prices are down eight cents a dozen from a month ago and are 11 cents below parity. Turkey prices at 33 cents are 16 cents under parity.

EVEN THOUGH THERE WAS A DECLINE in total numbers, the cattle and calf population in Texas outnumbers the human population. Several years ago, the human population and cattle and calf numbers were just about even. But then came the big build-up in cattle inventories, and the four-footed beasts are in numerical superiority.

The total cattle and calf population in Texas as of Jan. 1 was 15,600,000 head. This is down 6 per cent from a year ago. The human population in the state numbers something over 12,000,000.

The 1975 calf crop in Texas is estimated at 6,000,000; this is down 3 per cent from 1974.

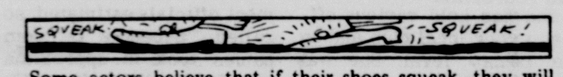
Nationwide, the numbers of cattle and calves are estimated at 128,000,000. This is down 3 per cent from a year ago.

The decline is somewhat more than some livestock experts had been projecting. Late last year, some cattle groups were estimating only a 1 or 2 per cent decline in total cattle and calf numbers.

The value of the Texas cattle population did increase slightly in 1975 compared to 1974. The value is set at $2.4 billion for 1975 while it was $2.2 billion a year ago. Average value per head as of Jan. 1 is $155; that's up $25 per animal from a year ago.

WEATHERWISE, IT'S BEEN A LONG, HARD WINTER for the Texas cowman. Rainfall during the fall and early winter months was 50 per cent of normal or below for most parts of the state.

As a result, very little, if any, grazing was obtained from wheat and oat fields. Row crop farmers are also worried about spring moisture availability.



Some actors believe that if their shoes squeak, they will have bad luck!

White Given Award; Future Family Leader

Lowell Craig White has been named Yoe High School's 1976 Betty Crocker Family Leader of Tomorrow. The student won the honor by scoring high in a written knowledge and attitude examination administered to high school seniors here and throughout the country Dec. 2.

The Family Leader will receive a certificate from General Mills, sponsor of the annual Betty Crocker Search for Leadership in Family Living and becomes eligible for state and national honors.

From the ranks of all school winners in the state, a State Family Leader of Tomorrow is selected through judging centered on test performance and receives a $1,500 college scholarship.

The second-ranking student in the state will receive a $500 scholarship. Encyclopaedia Britanicca Educational Corporation will present "The Annals of America," a 20 - volume reference work, to the state winner's school.

Representing every state and the District of Columbia, the 51 Betty Crocker Family Leaders of Tomorrow, together with their faculty advisors, will gather in Washington, D.C. in April for an expense-apid educational tour of the capital city.

Waco Doctor's Paintings To Be Viewed And Sold

During the last weekend in February almost 300 paintings by the late Dr. John L. Burgess will be on view at the Waco Creative Art Center. The paintings, which were a gift of the prominent Waco physician to the Art Center, may be purchased through contributions to The Art Center Library Fund.

A preview sale for Art Center members is scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 28, 5-8 p.m. The public showing is on Sunday, Feb. 29, 2-5 p.m.

At his death, Dr. Burgess left to the Art Center a large collection of art books, the materials in his studio, and this group of paintings. A committee of his friends have reviewed the works and recommended that they be sold for the benefit of The Art Center Library Fund.

Dr. Burgess, a well known eye, ear, nose, and throat specialist, died in 1973 only a few years after he began another career--that of a painter. During the brief years after his retirement, Dr. Burgess was widely recognized for his sensitive and delicately executed watercolors.

The benefit sale offers a wide variety of Burgess works. Included are more than 150 watercolors, a few large oil paintings, and many smaller oils. The works range from studies and unfinished pieces to fine examples of his watercolor technique. Reflecting Dr. Burgess' fascination with nature, most of the paintings are landscapes and seascapes. The benefit sale also includes a number of portraits, a less familiar aspect of Burgess' work. Only a few of the works are framed.

The paintings are available for $25 to $150 contributions to the Library Fund. All proceeds from the sale will be used for books and furnishings for the Art Center Library.

This will provide the nucleus of a non-circulatng research library in the visual arts that is open to the public. Contributions to the Library Fund are tax deductable to the extent allowable by law.

Plan A Parents, Friends Meet, Elect Officers

The parents and friends of children in Plan A programs in Cameron schools met Thursday night, February 12, at the Cameron Community Center. The following officers were elected: Mrs. Lucille Gelner, president; Mrs. Josephine Flores, vice president; Mrs. Mildred Pack, secretary; and Mr. Earl Sproull, legislative chairman.

Mr. Sproull stated that the parents have organized in order to increase involvement and awareness of special education programs, needs, and contributions to children with learning disabilities.

Mrs. Dorothy Gause, Plan A Diagnostician for Milam County, and Mrs. Joyce Bayless, Director of Burleson-Milam Special Services Coop, conducted a program about the formal and informal assessment procedures for determining learning disabilities.

Parents were given copies of "The Pupil Rating Scale - Screening for Learning Disabilities," "Teacher Observation Checklist," and "Slosson Drawing Coordination Test" which are samples of a few of the instruments used by Plan A. Mrs. Gause and Mrs. Bayless also demonstrated samples of work from students who have learning disabilities.

The meeting included a discussion of the legislative subcommittee hearings concerning special education. Parents were urged to use their rights and responsibilities to express themselves to their legislators about the need for quality special education.

Funding through special education to help a learning disabled child costs less than programs which remediate problems after the person has passed public school age.

The meeting was adjourned by President Mrs. Gelner and refreshments were served. The next meeting will be on March 11, 1976 from 7 - 8:30 p.m. at the Cameron Community Center and will focus on ways to help the learning disabled child at home.

We know your gas bill has gone up. But ours went up $166,189,000!

Lone Star's annual gas bill is four times what it was just five years ago. The average price Lone Star has had to pay producers for the gas we buy has gone up to about two-and-one-half times what we were paying just one year ago.

Because Lone Star must pass on these gas cost increases, your gas bills this winter are substantially higher than they were last year. And further rate increases are required to cover our cost of service. We know you don't enjoy paying these higher utility bills, but we have no other choice. And we believe you would rather have natural gas from Lone Star than the alternate forms of energy such as electricity, wood, fuel oil or coal.

Lone Star makes no profit on that portion of your gas bill which passes on increases in the average cost of gas we buy. In fact, Lone Star Gas Company utility profits have declined 56 per cent since 1972. Even with a full flow-through of its gas costs from the producer to the customer, Lone Star would lose money because of Gross Receipts Taxes (those taxes paid to each city under our franchises on gross revenues).

The only way Lone Star can continue to provide natural gas to its customers is through rates that include all changes in the cost of purchased gas. It is also important that we recover other costs of service that are no longer covered by our margins on gas sold to residential and commercial customers.

Our residential and commercial customers are in the enviable position of being able to get all the gas they want. There is NO SHORTAGE OF GAS FOR OUR RESIDENTIAL AND COMMERCIAL CUSTOMERS THIS WINTER! And with your support, we hope to be saying that for many years to come.

Yoe Girls Take 2nd Place In Dime Box Tourney

In the second tournament of the season, the Yoe girls took second place in the Dime Box Tournament last Friday and Saturday. The Yoe girls also ended their first season at the tournament.

In the tournament Snook took the first place trophy while Yoe won second. Dime Box took the third place and Somerville grabbed the Consolation title.

The Yoe girls had a bye in the first round of the tourney and faced the winner of the Dime Box-Somerville game.

Dime Box took a thriller over Somerville and the Yoe girls played in the second round Friday night.

In that game it went down to the final buzzer. In the first half the Yoe girls faced a four point deficit 10-6. The score at the end of the first quarter was tied, 4 all.

In the third quarter the Yoe girls were able to tie it up again at 18 all.

In the most exciting quarter of the tourney and maybe the entire first season, Coach Puckett's girls never led until the final buzzer sounded.

The girls tied the game up with 38 seconds, but on a free throw the Dime Box girls took a one point lead.

The Yoe girls got the ball down to the forwards and a drive and lay up by Tullullah Green rolled around and out of the rim with only five seconds remaining Evelyn Pittman rebounded and shot.

The clock read 0:00 but the buzzer hadn't sounded until the ball had left her hands and th ball swished through the cylinder and the Yoe girls owned a right to the finals 24-23.

In the game against Dime Box Evelyn Pittman led the scoring with 13, followed by Tullullah Green with 9. Rebecca Riola also had 2 points in the winning effort.

The Yoe girls hit 6 of 13 attempts from the free throw line while Dime Box hit 3 of 6.

In the final game the Yoe girls faced Snook. In the first half the girls owned a 20-16 lead over Snook.

The Yoe girls weren't able to keep their offensive game going and Snook remained tough on the boards.

In the third quarter the Yoe girls fell behind Snook 10-4. In the final eight minutes Snook continued to score over the Yoettes and built a 3 point margin giving them a 6 point tournament win over the Yoe girls.

Evelyn Pittman led the scoring for the Yoe girls with 15, followed by Tullullah Green with 8. Rebecca Riola produced 4 points for the final game of the season.

The Yoe girls hit 9 of 19 attempts from the free throw line. Snook hit 6 of 12 tries from the grace line.

Hearne Eagles Down Yoe In Final Bout, 58-54

The district crown will remain in the hands of the Cameron Yoemen who cinched the title with the win last week over Elgin. The Yoemen lost their final bout to the flu and Hearne.

The Yoemen's untarnished district record turned into a 13-1 by losing to the Hearne Eagles 58-54 in district play last Friday at Hearne.

The Yoemen will face tough warm-up action before their bi-district clash against Burnet, the district 24AA title winner. In the warm up game the Yoemen will face Rice Consolidated and then will face Bastrop in Taylor Friday night.

In the first quarter the Yoemen grabbed a two point lead 18-16. In that quarter the Yoemen hit 56% from the field, hitting 9 of 16 attempts.

In the second quarter the Yoemen were able to gain a 4 point advantage 22-18, giving the Yoemen a 6 point half time lead. In the second stanza the Yoemen hit 10 of 25 from the field for 40%.

An effective stall by the Eagles in the second half crushed the hopes of an undefeated district slate. The Eagles put an end to the Yoemen's offense, offering only 14 points for the entire second half.

In the third quarter the Yoemen hit 8 points while the Eagles evened the mark with 14. The score was tied at the end of the third, 48-48. The Yoemen produced a 33% average from the field, hitting 3 of 9.

SPORT SPOTLIGHT

By FORREST GUESS

A&M--WHAT'S NEXT. . .

The smear from the dope incident will probably be forgotten for the most part. Of course it's not because it's not important, but hotter scoop has come across the line.

Jarvis Williams and Karl Godine now take the limelight.

Both young men are freshmen at Southwest conference-leader Texas A&M. Both have been declared ineligible for the rest of the season, according to conference officials.

No reason for the suspensions has been uttered by any official sources. The entire situation developed over alleged recruiting violations in the form of gifts to Williams and Godine.

The Aggies took a three game lead in the SWC when they defeated Texas Tech last week. In that game Godine scored 20 points.

A team mate of Williams and Godine, Barry Davis, said that both men were innocent and said that it will probably end up in court. Davis blamed jealous people like Tech and Texas and others who recruited them for the SWC.

When you're on top, you must expect everyone to make certain that everything is in order. That's just the price of winning.

I remember during the football season that a few zealous coaches in District 23AA came to Cameron looking for any possible mistake that might have altered the district title.

Just part of winning. And frankly, it must have some deal of truth or Williams and Godine would still be playing.

SCHEDULES. . .

In Tuesday night action the Yoemen faced one of the toughest opponents in the 3A ranks, Rice Consolidated. Rice Consolidated is ranked 5th in the state for all 3A teams.

In Friday night action the Yoemen will face Bastrop in anotherwarm-up game. Bastrop won the District 25AA title.

The Yoemen will travel to Taylor to meet Bastrop at the half-way point. Trip off time is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. If Bastrop goes into the Regional tournament and wins along with wins by the Yoemen , the teams wouldn't meet until the state tournament.

Then on Tuesday night the Yoemen will play their Bi-District game at Killeen High school Roo gym.

Tip off time for that game that determines who will enter the regional tournament will be at 7:30 p.m. A complete line up and team report will be published in the Thursday edition of the Herald.

The game against Rice Consolidated will give the Yoemen a real strong opponent that was tested in the state tournament last year.

Rice returned three starters this season from that state finalist team.

Bastrop has been chosen as one of the top 2A teams and will give a good preview of how tough the teams will be ranked in the 2A classification.

POOLE SAID. . .

"Against Elgin last week I though we had a real good effort to cinch our district.

Kenneth Scott turned in a real fine effort with 16 rebounds and had 14 points. Jafus White and David Kornegay both had 17 points.

"We just had one of our finest team efforts of the season. We were able to go ahead and cinch our district crown with the win.

"It could have been our finest offensive and defensive night with both looking real sharp.

"Then against Hearne our first half was real good but then in the second half we fell apart. Hearne was sky high and it's real hard to get up for a game that doesn't chance the district.

"The gym was packed over at their place and they were extra ready to play us. Ronnie Bennett was sick with the flu, and I put him in the last few minutes of the fourth quarter.

"We also had Michal White sick with the flu but he played most of the game. We were sick and we played like it the last half. We were able to keep up with them but in the last two quarters we just couldn't keep up the pace.

"Hearne did do a real good job and had a healthy team. We have beat them twice, and I think with a healthy club we could have done it again.

"They did stall the ball on us in the second half but over all we just didn't have a good second half."

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

ZIPPERED SLEEPING BAGS—When night comes most hunters like to bed-down in their sleeping bags, near the campfire for added warmth. This can be dangerous if yours is the zippered type. Sparks can ignite a sleeping bag, and when this happens you must get out in a hurry. Zippered bags are prone to stick in an emergency. Snap-fasteners are more reliable.

OAR HANDLE GRIP—Hands get mighty sore and blistered if you do much rowing. You can largely prevent this by cutting off a six-inch section from a bicycle innertube for each oar handle. Slip this soft rubber over each oar handle like a glove. Not only will this protect your hand from chafing, but it will also add to a firm grip.

BEER CAN TABS—These tabs that come on today's beer cans can be useful to fishermen. If you drink beer —or have a friend who does—peel off this new-fangled beer can tab and screw it onto the front of your top-water lure. It makes a dandy lip. Adjust tab to proper angle and you can make the lure dive to new depths.

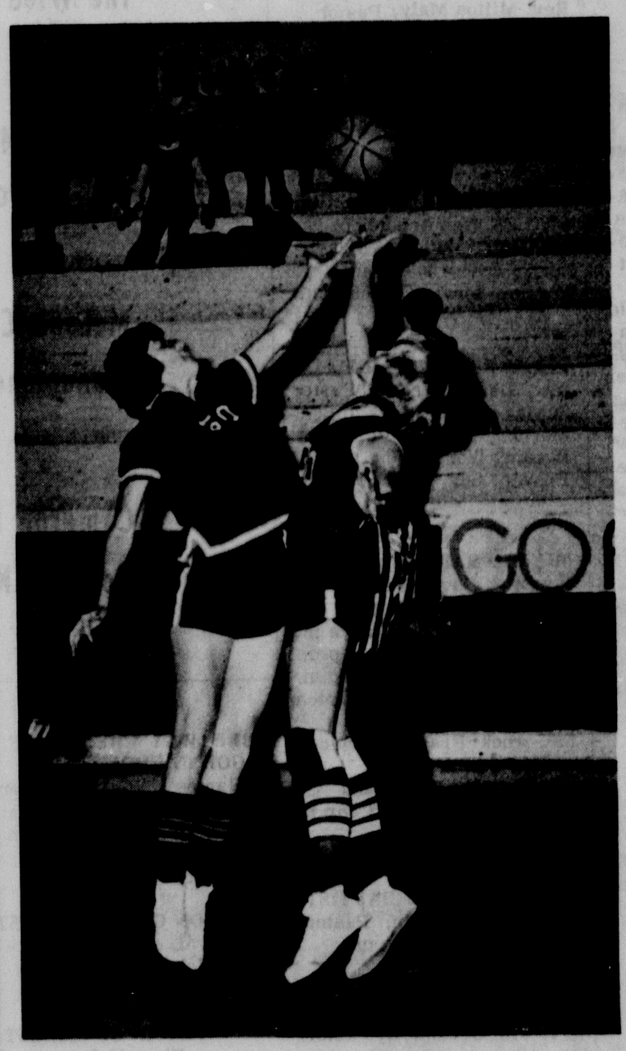
HOLLOW GLASS ROD SUPERIOR—A hollow glass rod is superior to a solid rod both in action and ease of manipulation. But the solid rod might be a bit stronger. Use your hollow rod for casting and your solid rod for trolling.



KIM FRITZ, #30, jumps for the Yoe girls JV in action earlier this season. Fritz and Tullullah Green had the honors of being the jumpers for the Yoe JV.

Black Drum Underutilized

AUSTIN

More than a million pounds of black drum are harvested commercially every year in Texas, but Texas Parks and Wildlife Department fisheries biologists feel it is one of the most underutilized food fish on the Texas Gulf coast.

Drum, although plentiful, are not the most sought-after fish, ranking far below popular game fish suck as speckled trout, flounder, and redfish. Known under a variety of names, including Texas drum, sea or saltwater drum and tambor, this member of the croaker family is a commercial fishing mainstay, but is has never been fully accepted by sport fiahermen.

It is most abundant along the lower coastal areas and is found in almost all bay and inshore Gulf waters. Its name comes from the fishs' ability to produce croaking or drumming sounds with its air bladder.

The species can thrive easily in shallow, warm water as well as in 100-foot deep, cold water, and also survive freezing weather better than any other fish.

Drum are chunky, high-backed fish whose coloration in the Gulf can vary from jet black to silver or bronze.

The drum grows to good size, reaching 16 inches in three years, and growing an average of two inches a year thereafter. The largest black drum on record weighed 146 pounds; the Texas record taken by a sportfisherman is 78 pounds.

Most bull drum caught in Texas weigh 30 to 40 pounds.

Drum feed on small shrimp, fish, and crabs as well as worms, alage, and often dig out buried mollusks.

Schools of drum feed in shallow water and when drum runs occur, fishermen by the score gather at intracoastal canals.

Bible Published In New Dialects

By the end of 1975 at least one book of the Bible had been published in 1577 languages and dialects since the invention of printing, according to the American Bible Society's annual official Scripture language count. Twenty-nine languages which have never appeared on the list before were added in 1975.

The publication of the Gospel of John in Afaraf, a language of Ethiopia; of Luke in Kupsapiny, spoken in Uganda; and the Acts in Western Kutchin, a language of Alaska, brings these languages to the list for the very first time.

North-Central Fore, a language spoken in Papua New Guinea, is introduced to the list with publication of a complete New Testament. The other 25 new entries represent publication of individual Biblical books in languages ranging from Abulas, spoken in Northern Papua New Guinea to Vaagriboli, a language of India.

Translations of the complete Bible are reported published for the first time in four languages: Byelorussian spoken in the USSR; Indonesian, the official language of Indonesia; Kikoonde spoken in Zambia and Zaire; and Oluluyia spoken in Kenya. The latter three were all Bible Society publications.

Other Bible Society "firsts" were the New Testament in Jorai, a language of Vietnam, and in Yao, a dialect spoken in Thailand, South China, Laos, and Vietnam. The report also lists many new publications in languages previously counted.

The total of 1577 languages includes the publication of the complete Bible in 261 languages, the New Testament in 384 more, and one or more individual books in an additional 932.

Common-Language or "popular" versions in several languages--Arabic, Chinese, Haitian Creole, Miskito in Mexico, Tamil in India, and two more languages of the Philippines, Hiligaynon and Pangasinan--indicate the widespread interest in updated translations. "Good News for Modern Man," the American Bible Society's New Testament in Today's English versio n has now passed a circulation of 50,000,000 since its publication in 1966, the Bible Society reports.

Cooperation between Bible Societies, churches and various Christian organizations concerned with Bible translation is evident in the list of new publications. Teams of experts in linguistics and Bible translation specialists are supported by the United Bible Societies, a worldwide fellowship of 57 national Bible Societies. These consultants travel widely, meeting with local translation committees usually consisting of native speakers of the language. The UBS is often the publisher of the resulting translation.

Commercial publications of Scriptures ar e almost nonexistent outside the English-speaking countries and Northern Europe, and the people of the rest of the world depend almost entirely on Bible Society-subsidized publications for their supply of Scriptures.

The United Bible Societies' subsidy of $11,000,000 in 1976 makes possible the sale of Scriptures at prices far below cost so that everyone can afford them. About half of this budget is underwritten by the American Bible Society with contributions from Christians of more than 70 denominations.

The American Bible Society, founded in 1816, is a nonprofit, nondenominational organization whose only purpose is the translation, publication, and distribution of the Holy Scriptures, without doctrinal note or comment. The Society is supported through contributions from churches and individuals. Through the United Bible Societies it supplies Scriptures to churches and missions in more than 150 countries and territories.

FAITH... UNLIMITED
1976
In our nation's infancy, it was George Washington who showed us the power of faith. Faith gave him the courage to fight on while others fell in despair. Faith sustained him through the dark days of Valley Forge. He never doubted that right would ultimately prevail.
In our own troubled times, we too need the same deep, abiding faith.
The Church now—as in Washington's day—is eager to ease our doubts and to sustain our spiritual needs. With God's help, we shall persevere.

Moldings Dress Up Deadly Front Door

A door is a bore, if it's the plain flush type — worse if it's at the front entrance.

But for $5 or less in moldings, finish nails and glue, you can transform that drab portal into an entry with elegance, in the Spanish, traditional or contemporary manner.

A how-to booklet tells it all, with details also for enriching storage walls and chests with inexpensive moldings. For a copy, send 25 cents in coin to Western Wood Products Assn., Dept. 518-P, Yeon Bldg., Portland, Or. 97204.

TEJAS 1876

February 15 - 22, 1876

Election day finally came on Feb. 16, and although it took several days for all ballots to be officially tabulated, the incumbent, Richard Coke was re-elected governor over his Republican opponent Chambers. The new constitution was adopted by a wide margin.

GALVESTON — The NEWS laments that the great number of offices to be filled and the unusual disposition to "scratch" tickets which prevailed throughout the State rendered the counting of ballots a tedious process. Returns came in slowly and in such unsatisfactory shape that it was difficult to make some of them intelligible.

GRAYSON COUNTY — The American Meat Preserving Company at Denison is now at work putting up cooked meats for the trade. After beef, pork, or any other meat goes through their process, it is ready for the table. They are also putting up boned turkey by the same process.

INDIANOLA — The courthouse has been thoroughly repaired and placed in fine order from the effects of the September cyclone. The jail, also, is in good condition. The steamship W.G. Hewes will take upwards of 500 beeves to Havana. The total shipment last week aggregate 1000 head.

GALVESTON — The Southern Champion Louisville Base Ball Club plans to play games in Galveston, Houston, Dallas and Denison during March.

NEW YORK CITY — The adoption of the new constitution (in Texas) gives general satisfaction. Texas bonds are rapidly advancing. For seven per cent, gold bonds five and a half bid — ten asked. Forster, Ludlow and Company.

HOUSTON — The only visible sign of Washington's birthday here was a large U.S. flag or two displayed over the post office and in Fannin Street.

GALVESTON — In the personal column: The COURIER-JOURNAL rightly ranks Mr. Fruits and Mrs. Fruits of Indiana among the first Fruits of the earth, the one being 113 and the other 111 years old. The old gentleman neither smokes nor chews, of course.

Advertised in Leading Texas Newspaper — Mind reading, psychomaney, soul charming, mesmerism, and marriage guide, showing how either sex may fascinate and gain the love and affection of any person they choose instantly. 400 pages. By mail, 50 cents.

"YOU CAN DO IT" is the title of a weekly television series for local and area "do - it - yourselfers" will be appearing at 6:30 a.m. every Saturday for 12 weeks on KCEN-TV, Channel 6 from Temple. This will be available for homemakers and homeowners through out the Central Texas Area, including Milam County.

"You Can Do It" features hostess Cindy Kidwell. It is a twelve part educational series on home care and repairs, aimed at helping viewers learn simple money - saving techniques for home care and maintenance.

The programs include information on simple home electrical repairs, making and using household cleaners, repair of leaky faucets, adjusting and repairing toilets, caulking, weatherstripping, painting and repairing walls.

In addition, the series explains care and maintenance of large appliances and how to make storage space.

This series is a 30 minute program and will be aired each Saturday for twelve weeks.

Area television viewers may enroll for free "do - it - yourself" booklets" on home care and maintenance, offered in conjunction with the television series. There are about 30 booklets, which give instructions in home care and maintenance skills taught in the series. To use the booklets, you do not have to watch the series. The booklets can be used with the series or separate.

Anyone wanting the series can contact Mrs. Chris Holcombe, Milam County Extension Agent, Box 708, Cameron, Texas 76520 or call 817 697-6520 or come by the Milam County Extension Office at 107 N. Central in Cameron.

Booklets will serve as a preview so viewers can study ahead of time and better understand each lesson in the series. Also, they will serve as a reference after the series is completed, and they do contain additional information -- in words and pictures.

This series is sponsored in each county by the County Family Living Committee and KCEN-TV. The series was created and produced by home economics specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System, through a special grant from the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Ceiling Work Doubly Good

Many an older home is doubly difficult to heat, because of high ceilings and lack of insulation.

Laying or pouring in loose insulation material between joists is the preferred means of cutting heat loss, but where access is difficult it's feasible to install a limited alternate under the ceiling in the form of rigid insulation panels.

Decorating with board paneling, itself a notable insulator, and false beams can be done at the same time. Boards of western cedar or pine are easy to install, one at a time, by nailing them crosswise to the joists.

Beams can be either solid 4x6-inch pieces or of another size, or built up from one and two inch lumber to any of many differing profiles.

4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

On Feb. 11 the Milam County 4-H Food Show Committee met and made plans for the county Food Show to be held March 20 at the Methodist Fellowship Hall in Cameron.

There will be three divisions: Beginners--for those under 9 as of Jan. 1, 1976; Juniors--for those between 9-13; and Senior--for those 14 but not 19 by Jan. 1, 1976.

Each division will have four classes--main dish, side dish, breads and desserts, and snacks and beverages.

Each 4-H'er in the county is eligible to enter. The youths will prepare their dish at home and bring it plus a copy of the day's menu, a copy of the recipe and junior and senior division participants will also bring a copy of the 4-H Design for Discovery Form Record completed.

The show will start with set up from 12:30-1 p.m. Judging will be from 1-3:30 p.m.; presentation of awards from 3:30-4 p.m.; and the tasting party from 4-4:30 p.m.

The food show committee is composed of Donna Hause, Wynona Scroggins, Rebecca Riola, Renee Sheguit, Leslie Sheguit, Suzanne Hicks, Patrice Biehle, Yevette Wells, Denise Biehle, Janese Biehle, Rosemary Riola, Gene Bonaden, and Mrs. David Hause, Mrs. Bobby Scroggins, Mrs. Charles Riola, Mrs. Paul Sheguit, Mrs. Cecil Hicks, Mrs. Ray Biehle, and county extension agents.

Malpractice Insurance Is Serious Problem In Texas

A serious medical problem is affecting Texans' health and attacking their pocketbooks. This problem, the malpractice insurance crisis, is altering the quality, cost and availability of health care.

A nationwide study by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare shows the number of malpractice suits has almost doubled in five years to about 20,000 annually. About 90 percent of all malpractice claims ever filed have occurred in the last decade, an insurance official says.

The cost of malpractice claims also has jumped. In New York, malpractice claims bring an average of $23,400 apiece, even if they are settled out of court.

One symptom of the crisis is an increase in patients' bills. Now many physicians order extra tests and longer hospital stays to protect themselves from suit, not because the procedures are medically needed. Defensive medicine naturally alters the cost and quality of care. But every claim against a doctor, whether valid or not, makes it harder to get the malpractice insurance necessary to protect him from financial ruin.

Patients' bills also rise when doctors must pass on part of the burden of high malpractice insurance rates. Nationally, insurance rates have jumped about 600 percent in approximately four years. Some Texas doctors pay about $27,000 a year for malpractice insurance alone.

One estimate show malpractice insurance premiums add between $2 - $10 per day to patients' hospital room rates. More than $1.60 out of every $10 paid to doctors goes for malpractice insurance.

In order to cut down on costs, many doctors are discontinuing services likely to cause suits. Often a doctor can quit doing surgery or delivering babies and his premiums will decrease. Other doctors are retiring early or fleeing to relatively safe administrative jobs, research or teaching. In any case, staggering malpractice insurance costs are cutting down the availability of medical treatment.

One problem under the current system is that every malpractice claim in Texas must be filed as a court suit. Some states have arbitration panels who can rule on malpractice claims and give medical opinions, admissible in court, if there is a trial. These panels cut down on unjustified claims and speed settlement in legitimate cases.

Another problem is that patients' lawyers are paid a large percentage of any settlement. This practice encourages multiple suits for very large amounts. The Texas Medical Association (TMA) proposes a sliding scale for patients' attorneys. For instance, a lawyer would get a certain percentage of the first $1,000 of the settlement, a smaller percentage of the next $1,000 and so on. A sliding scale would help deter demands for excessive sums and give a larger majority of the award to the patient.

Insurance firms face particular difficulties. Until a temporary law was passed last year, a patient could file suit virtually anytime after an incident. Unfortunately, the law will expire Dec. 31, 1977. Insurors still must keep very large monetary reserves since they have little way of estimating the number of claims. They have tried to replenish their reserves, hit by the malpractice suit epidemic and stock market woes, by raising rates.

TMA proposes a permanent two year statute of limitations and generally limiting judgments to $500,000 to help remedy the situation.

Another proposal includes strengthening the disciplinary powers of medical groups and the State Board of Medical Examiners to help improve medical care.

Obviously these are not all the causes or solutions to the crisis. But it is equally apparent only our legislators can create a fair situation for everyone concerned before the malpractice insurance crisis has serious, permanent effects on health care.

Iodine Need Supplied

Iodine is an essential mineral, but "a little bit goes a long way," Mrs. Sally Coble, a foods and nutrition specialist says.

"Lack of iodine causes goiter, an enlargement of the thyroid gland on the front and sides of the neck. But recent studies indicate some people with high levels of urinary iodine, reflecting a high iodine intake, also have evidence of goiter," the specialist said.

"Traditionally, iodize salt and seafood have been the major sources of dietary iodine in the American diet. But today's new technology in food processing may be making more iodine available in foods.
